ABSTRACT

In the first years of independence, Uzbekistan, which was striving to build a humane democratic state governed by the rule of law, first of all had to restore the confidence of citizens in themselves, the state, eliminate alienation from government, state and public affairs, increase personal social responsibility for their actions. With this in mind, this article provides some ideas on the origin of the state and statehood in the territory of the present-day Republic of Uzbekistan. In addition, we tried to analyze the views of thinkers, as well as scientists of today's world on the formation of the idea of the rule of law in the territory of our republic.
