ABSTRACT

The translation of phraseological units is currently a hot topic in thanatology. Many distinguished specialists believe that phraseological units are lexical combinations whose meaning is defined by the entire expression. The emotional expressiveness and conciseness of thought expression are the most distinguishing features of a phraseological unit. In the newspaper style, phraseological units are frequently used. It is worth noting that phraseological units are frequently transformed into "stock phrases." The most important stage for the translator is defining phraseological units in the text and being able to find an equivalent to it during the translation process. To translate a phraseological unit, the translator should consult phraseological dictionaries, and context is crucial during the translation process.
