

LITERARY TRANSLATION AS A BRANCH OF TRANSLATOLOGY

Nasiba Khushbakova

Department of Foreign Language and Literature Termez State University

ABSTRACT

This article defines the main definitions of translation and literary translation in modern linguistics. Besides current article supplies the importance of that literary translation is specific phenomenon which plays an important role in the spiritual and cultural development of the nation. Through literary translations, readers will be informed of certain nation's culture, traditions, and most importantly, recognizes the representative of that country.

Keywords: translatology, literary translation, literary text, realia, source language, target language.