

ABOUT THE TERMINOLOGY AND LEXICOLOGY

Zulola Najmitdinovna Rashidova

Lecturer, Termez state university

ABSTRACT

One particular area of confusion highlighted by the POINTER Project is that of the differences between terminology and lexicology, and terminography and lexicography. Not only many non-specialists, but even many individuals working in such fields as language engineering and translation frequently confuse these concepts, and it is hoped that the explanations given below will contribute to a clearer understanding of the distinctions between these fields of activity.

Keywords: terminology, classification, direct, method, special