ABSTRACT

Speaking is the expression of one's thoughts in order to solve communication problems. This is the activity of one person, although it is included in communication and is unthinkable outside of it because communication is always interacting with other people. The goal of education in secondary school should be considered not language, which is appropriate for philological education in a special university, and not speech as a "way of forming and formulating thoughts".

Keywords: methodological literature, formation of communicative competence, linguistic environment, intercultural communication, types of training exercises, implementation of methodology, orientation of practical speech, principle of novelty, principle of individualization, principle of functionality, segment, quality of productivity, methodically unprepared speech.
